Mastering the Moves

The first day of school can be scary and intimidating for new students; however, this year, the first year at Manchester's new Bailey Bridge location, everyone was new to the school. Filtrating this building was a student body full of diversity and uniqueness. After their initial daze, students and faculty were faced with the immense size of the school. True Lancer orange and blue pride began to overflow into every aspect of Manchester life. Many new faces entered with pizazz and freshness, helping the returning Lancers reestablish the MHS spirit and build character into the massive white building. This renewed sense of spirit and enthusiasm rapidly spread through the student body and was evident in their myriad of sports, clubs, and academic endeavors. The 1992/93 school year will be immortalized as a year of change. Urged on by the call for presidential change, the building change, and new school zone changes, Manchester adapted and moved on, allowing each MHS student to make his or her own mark in the new tradition at Manchester. Manchester's memories and spirit will never end because her students are continually mastering the moves.

LANCER

Lancer Life Is moving to the rhythm

There is much to acknowledge in our new Manchester High School, for the success of this year should be credited to all of the Lancers. Lancer Life has definitely not lost its rhythm in establishing style and fun as top priorities. United and proud of their continued success, Lancers combine both new and old traditions to create a distinguishing atmosphere. A variety of special events including memorable Homecoming and Powderpuff Games is only the beginning of what may lie ahead. New memories were chiseled into Manchester's foundation of history by holding the Prom and the Graduation ceremony right at home, in the building. Lancer pride and overwhelming spirit could not be extinguished, but only heightened with the numerous pep rallies, spirit activities and events throughout this entire year. Students have shown that they can really have fun by participating in the dances or attending the school plays. It is no doubt that Manchester has already established a strong first year at this new school and location. Mastering the moves here has not been a problem. It is this that makes Lancers strive for their dreams and goals. It is this that shows we have begun to Master the Moves.

School Daze: Where Do I Go?

Unlike every other day at school, September 8, 1992, will always be special for Manchester. It was the first school day at Manchester's new Midlothian, Virginia location. As the students trickled in, everyone began to realize just how enormous and foreign the new school was with its long hallways, funny room numbers, and unknown areas. Many people quite winded from the long treck up from the student parking lot, congregated in the Commons area awaiting a familiar face.

Previous to the first actual school day, Manchester held its dedication services as Principal, Mr. David Jones proudly looked on from the crowd. The orchestra, band and Madrigal singers performed during this prestigious event. A banquet was held afterwards for all those who participated in the festivities. Good luck to the new Manchester High School and all of its students!

The excitement continues when Manchester's own, Ben Frank is interviewed by Channel 12 on his first day experiences.

Another first day experience is that journey from the parking lot to the school building.

After enjoying the activities in the auditorium, people retreat to the Commons for the dedication banquet.

Lancer Spirit

Manchester spirit never stops. This year the students at Manchester have out done themselves in their efforts to promote spirit within the school. Students and teachers alike have been caught on ''hat and tie'' days with their favorite hat and wacky tacky ties. At pep rallies, the entire gymnasium is filled with cheers to encourage our superior athletic teams. The new freshman class did not shy away from the excitement, but they joined right in with the cheers. On particular ''spirit days'' twins could be spotted in the halls, or someone would have a large funny hat on, or someone would even have big floppy slippers on. Manchester should be proud to have such a motivated student body that brings spirit to our school clubs, academics, and other activities. They have developed a dedication to keep the excitement within our school. From the first day of school to the last, Lancer spirit has shined. Keep the spirit rolling!

Homecoming: On Our Turf

On Friday, October 23, 1992, the mighty battle between the Manchester Lancers and the Cloverhill Cavaliers was raged on our new football field. The game was close but as the referee's whistle blew, Manchester's fans went wild. Lancer pride soared as the final score was 17 to 16, a victory for our Varsity team. In anticipation of the game, the pregame parade was very exciting. Due to the high-tech track surface, the floats were constructed on golf carts. The Homecoming theme was "Always and Forever," and the classes and clubs did a great job decorating the carts using the theme. The Homecoming Court and crowd spirit were enthusiastic and supportive.

The half-time tradition of crowning the new King and Queen went smoothly. Last year's elegant King, Marrell Elam and Queen, Stephanie Goode returned to Manchester to pass on their crowns. This year's well-deserving homecoming King was Ivan Squire, and the beautiful and talented Queen was Nicole Kimbrough. What a way to "kick-off" the new school year and new school!

There is no doubt that the Manchester crowd is both spirited and enthusiastic in supporting the Homecoming Football game, as well as all other Manchester activities.

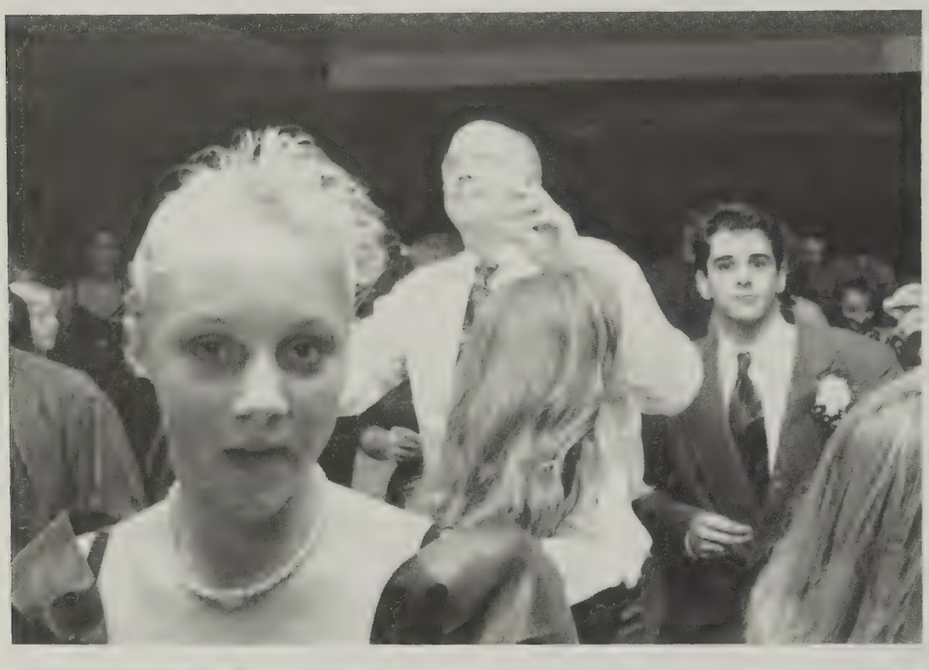
Dance the Night Away

After an exciting victory, the Lancers were more than ready for the annual Homecoming Dance. Adding to the excitement was the thought of a new dance floor. It was hard to imagine that the beautifully decorated setting was actually the commons in the new school. The SCA created a romantic atmosphere with balloons, streamers, and, of course, MUSIC by Jimmy Oliver. Students enjoyed a variety of styles of dancing, doing everything from the Electric Slide to the Twist. The evening was impressive and fun for everyone. The theme truly became a reality; the evening will be remembered "Always and Forever."



Mr. Jones entertained everyone with his version of the Monster Mash.

Powderpuff Power

After weeks of bumps, bruises, and a near killing of Mrs. Leighty, the upperclass women were ready for the annual Powderpuff game. On a cold November evening the girls decided to put away their feminine charms and go for the goal. Despite the rain the girls put on their football gear and headed for the field. It was a tough battle as the Juniors tried to prove their swiftness and brawn over the Seniors. The score was close, but the winners were obvious. With their heads held high, the victorious Seniors cheered their way off the field. With amusing commentary from Mr. Storino and the hairiest cheerleaders ever, a thrilling time was had by all.

"I DO!"

Four couples exchanged vows in Manchester High School's auditorium on February 17 and 18, 1993. Students, faculty, friends, and family members witnessed the double-ring mock ceremonies performed by the Reverend Tom Dunkum. After the ceremonies, the wedding parties enjoyed cake and punch.

Students in Family Living, a senior level class taught by the Home Economics Department, planned and participated in the mock weddings. Topics covered during a unit lesson on love, engagement and marriage were: partner selection, rituals, marriage laws, etiquette, budgeting, counseling and adjustment, and other aspects of engagement and marriage.

Hours of planning go into the weddings each year, and the support of local businesses is crucial. Businesses lending support this year were: Mitchell's Formal Wear, Bridal designs, Gengiss Formalwear, and Mr. L. Tuxedoes.

Seniors Rule!

On Wednesday, March 10, 1993 the battle between the faculty and the Seniors began at the Senior vs. Faculty Basketball Game. The teams were divided into men and women faculty teams, and girls and boys Senior teams. The game was intense as all teams tried to score. At halftime there was a slam-dunk contest between three Seniors and three of the faculty members. At the end of the game, the Seniors gained victory with a one-point advantage over the faculty team and a victorious final score.

'93 Passion in Paradise

On Saturday, May 1, 1993 Manchester held its annual Junior/Senior Prom. This year was different from previous years because the dance was held at the school. It was a beautiful night and everyone was surprised at how different the Commons looked after the Juniors decorated. There were palm trees, bridges, and tropical walkways to be marvelled at, and guests were surprised to find an orchestra playing out in the courtyard. Manchester students proudly selected Ivan Squire and Nicole Kimbrough as Prom King and Queen. Manchester's "Passion in Paradise 1993" was very memorable and a great success.

Magical Mystery Tour

After Prom most students journeyed to Cloverleaf Mall to the post-prom "Magical Mystery Tour." Students were greeted by teachers and parents who volunteered to help run the many casino games. People played Blackjack, gambled at the horse races, won prizes, and won money in the Q94 money booth. Magic rabbits, tricks, and juggling entertained the guests. The food was free and abundant. Music in the background mixing with the excited chatter of students filled the mall's food court that night. The Post-Prom Party wound down as people, weary from a fun-filled evening, decided to head home or go to the beach. This year's entire Prom and After-Prom experiences are ones that will be treasured forever.

SCA/Senior Assemblies

In June, students, faculty, and parents packed the gym for two special assemblies to honor distinguished students of Manchester High School. The first assembly, the SCA Assembly, recognized students for a myriad of achievements. Students were honored for excelling in academics, fine arts, sports, community service, and other extracurricular and intrascholastic events. This year, for the first time, a pre-assembly was held for students receiving academic letters and stars. Congratulations to all Lancers who received awards. Great Job!

Dressed nicely and holding roses, the Class of 1993 paraded into the gym for the second assembly, the Senior Assembly, to specifically honor seniors. Over 240 thousand dollars in scolarships were awarded to deserving students. Nicole Kimbrough was named Distinguished Graduate for 1993, the most prestigious honor given by Manchester.

Bright and early Seniors enjoyed a full breakfast in the commons area before the Senior Assembly. Tables were full of juice and milk, and varieties of delicious pastries all prepared by the class officers and junior marshals. This event proved to be successful as Seniors scurried into the long line for seconds and thirds. Others conversed with friends on the day's events that would occur. One of the topics was the Senior Banquet that night. Yet, the most discussed topic was the early dismissal Seniors would receive after the Senior Assembly. The Class of 1993 truly looked great and enjoyed their breakfast at the same time. This tradition would hopefully be a continued success at the new Manchester.

Academics Are on the move

Manchester students have excelled in all areas of the academic curriculum this year as a result of motivation and preparation. The Departments have experienced an advance in the technology of teaching tools and software which has enabled more students and teachers to become readily inspired. Many students experienced the teaching aspect of a teacher's position by participating in a Senior Leadership Day. Teachers in turn, experienced the student's side for a day and were surprised to find some difficulty in this situation. Academics also involved activities like cooperative learning that shared the methods of group work, and even various planned trips to learn about the government, history, or science affairs. With the additions of several computers and labs, students receive the hands-on experience that is required for the near future. There was much positive response from these changes. Many were doubtful about all the new changes, but it really seemed to contribute more to the success of Manchester. The school has risen to face the challenges and is on the move to continual success. For sure academics are on the move to Mastering All of the Moves.

A Step Up

The Manchester High School Mathematics department has experienced a year of wonderful opportunity and innovations. A new, expanded location has energized this group of highly skilled teachers. Teachers epitomize the Math department's new direction with their emphasis upon hands-on teaching and learning. TI-81 calculators are now a part of nearly every mathematics class, aiding students by making both arithmetic and graphing much easier. The increased computing capacity of the new building has facilitated the trend as well, and now students can use the computers to study everything from fractions to fractals. However, despite so many enrichments and opportunities, the Mathematics department still focuses on what it does best: preparing students for the real world mathematics decisions that have become a part of their daily lives.

Academic Trivia

Academic Trivia participants Sean Ralston, Allison Marsh, Kerry Bigley, and Heather Sleagal wait eagerly for an answer during a meet.

Every Tuesday, two great groups of students meet in a room to play a round of Academic Trivia. Academic Trivia is as Ms. Callan says ''an intramural competition of academic knowledge for all students of all grade levels.'' It was started by the administration and the faculty who thought it might be fun for students academically. That is what is has turned out to be. It is an interesting competition that really tests your knowledge on various topics. The variety of topics would make the math-wiz, literary genius, history-buff, literary sport's fan, and even a Trekie happy. No subject is left unquestioned. The game consists of three parts. The first is ''categories'' where the teams may confer, but the captain can only answer. The next part is ''college bowl''. The student who knows the answer may give it. After that has happened the correct team's captain may answer 4 bonus questions. The final section is ''up for grabs.'' Forty questions are asked and any player may answer. There is, of course, a time limit. Seven seconds are allowed for most questions. If it is a math question then they are allowed ten seconds. The entire game consists of thirty minutes. The first place team at the end of the year is the one with the most accumulated points. They finish off the year by playing the teachers. The top three teams also get a tangible award. Congratulations to all teams!

Team Captain Alice Chan appears ready to answer anything that comes her way.

The English Department:
From "Poe Week" to Pronouns

From Shakespeare to adverbs, the Manchester English department holds the responsibility of teaching students the most beautiful science on earth — the science of language. Throughout a four-year program of literature, grammar, and writing studies, the English department tries to develop a love of language within the students it teaches. Students can take advantage of extra humanities study through the department electives, including Drama, Speech, and Debate. The department itself is changing with the times, and has also entered the computer age, utilizing new resources to allow student access to word-processing and on-line information programs that greatly expand computing capacities.

One of the major projects undertaken by the English department this year was the "Poe Assembly." The speaker agreed to address all interested students about the life and writings of Edgar Allen Poe, one of the nation's most famous and mysterious poets. The Art department produced unique, professional T-shirts commemorating the event, and the Forensics students presented a thrilling version of the "Raven" to English classes. In all, "Poe Week" was a resounding success.

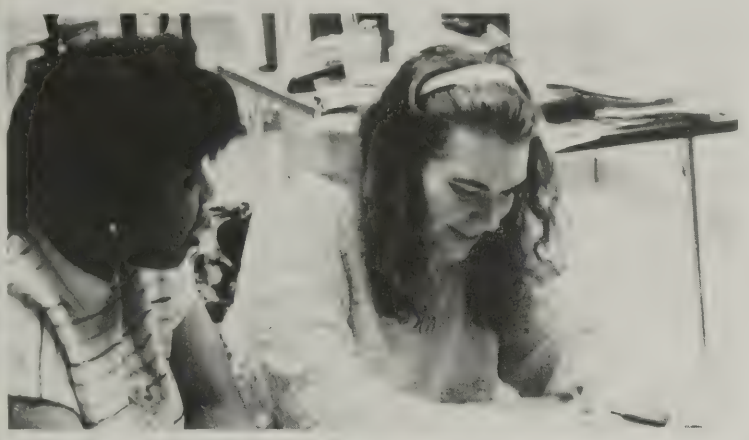
Peer Tutoring

Peer tutors Demetrius Long and Joan Long work hard on geometry.



Allison Marsh and Erica Loftis help Latonya Isler with her English homework.

The new S.T.A.R.S. peer tutoring program plans to have a bright future if this year is any indication of its potential. S.T.A.R.S., which stands for Student Tutors are A Real Solution, has helped a number of students achieve what they never thought they could before. With over 50 tutors, the program has helped over 70 students, adding up to over 1800 hours of help this year, a phenomenal figure. The tutors and students meet every Tuesday through Thursday, and tutors are encouraged to come in Monday and Fridays for extra help in developing tutoring skills. Many students have come to feel that F127, Ms. Russel's room, is their guide to success and better grades. At any given time, one can find dedicated tutors such as Eric Wilfong or Ivan Squire helping a classmate with a difficult problem. If you peek in during D study, you will find an array of topics being discussed from basic math to contemporary economics. S.T.A.R.S. is a program built to help everyone's needs and wants. The backbone of this program is the three seniors; Beth Brooks, Lawanda Bryant, and Erica Loftis, who make helping others their daily work. Mrs. Russel supervises the program and adds valuable guidance. For all involved, S.T.A.R.S. has proven to be a rewarding experience on both an academic and personal level.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language Department is truly Manchester's most diverse staff. With five languages to teach (Spanish, French, German, Latin, and Russian), the department is certainly a very busy group. Teachers make it a priority to expand the cultural awareness and understanding throughout the school, and many try to stress the similarities between two different cultures rather than the differences. Students are taught not only a language, but adopt a people and a culture as well. In some cases, that is exactly what happens. Manchester has hosted three full-year foreign exchange students — Gerald Hoppe, Arancha Roman, and Pable Figueres, as well as several French students. Besides offering in-school experiences, the department also sponsors several foreign language seminars each year after school. The first seminar this year featured a student speaking about his life in Spain. In March, John Worlick spoke to a large group of students about his years in Switzerland. The department also sponsors an annual celebration of foreign cultures called Foreign Language Week, which features trivia, games, adn ethnic-food fests all week long. This year's festivities culminated in an annual cultural exchange where students gave presentations about their families' ethnic history and origins. The event proved to be both educational and entertaining for students, and illustrates the fine commitment towards fostering international understanding that the Foreign Language Department has.

FLHS

The Foreign Language Honors Societies had a very busy year. The qualifications for being in these prestigious societies are quite rigid. Currently, Manchester is home to three branches of different foreign language honors societies. Latin, French, and Spanish all induct new members each year into their growing ranks. To be a member of the French Honors Society, one must have an A average for the current semester along with an A in the previous three semesters. This national organization is sponsored by the American Association for Teachers of French. The newest members of the French Honors Society are Thomas Epps, Alice Chan, and Raelen Roscher.

After five semesters of Spanish, and a simple majority of A's, one can be qualified to be a member of the Socicedad Honoraria Hispania. Some of the newest members of this elite group are Eric Dotson, Ben Koch, Sara Kristoff, and Eisha McDowell. These members are to be congratulated for their fine work.

The Latin Honors society chooses its members in much the same way. It is a local chapter of the National Latin Honors Society and has adopted Nick Vidonic, Miki McCoy, Allison Marsh, and Alvin Washington as some of its newest members. In all, the foreign language honors societies bring both honor and prestige to the new school.

Fantastic Faculty

Teachers — What do they do? Everyone knows what they do during the school day, but what do they do during the rest of their free time? Many students have the assumption that, after the last bell, they melt into the floors and resurrect themselves the next morning. Oh, contraire! Teachers have homes, hobbies, dreams, and problems of their own. Outside of school, one teacher plays on a volleyball team, one is a gourmet cook, one enjoys Japanese gardening, and some just wear themselves out by chaufferring their children around all day! For most teachers, the teaching day does not end when the last bell rings. There are long hours of grading, preparing lesson plans, and filling out paperwork. So, the next time you look at a teacher, try to see them as more than a talking head or a teaching machine.

The second mystery to students is often that of the administration. These authority figures loom large over a student's day — a figure of fear, power, and responsibility. With walkie-talkies strapped to them all the time, the administration is constantly out and about the school. In order to be accessible to all staff and students, our dedicated team of Mr. Jones, Dr. Kyke, Mrs. Leauge, and Mr. Walker keep very, very busy. Their days are filled with parent conferences, student requests, and dealing with discipline problems. The administration is currently developing a program to lessen the unfortunate influence of crime at Manchester with Crimesolvers Association. This will help nurture an atmosphere of safety, trust, and stability at the school. Thanks to the hard work of the administration, Manchester remains Chesterfield County's number one high school!

Science Department

The Manchester High School Science department has had a year of change and progress. The new school building and better facilities have increased the resources that have expanded the department's capability to teach. While the venerable old favorites of the teaching staff, such as Mr. Henry, Mrs. Wiser, and Mrs. Bass, remain; some new faces have appeared. Mrs. Gryder, a new Physics and chemistry teacher, is one of the many new additions to the staff. The new computing powers have also added an exciting new dimension to laboratory activities. Where before students would have only been able to speculate at the various phenomena of science concepts, they can now get real hands on experience with some pretty sophisticated equipment. For example, in Mr. Frier's classes, the new Sonar and graphical analysis software has greatly enhanced labs about momentum, accerleration, and many other concepts that were difficult to visualize beforehand. Throughout the department, teachers have been trying to make class as interesting and challenging as possible. Whether students are analyzing an aspirin compound in Chemistry class, studying the dust storms of Mars in Earth Science, or dissecting a worm in Biology; they can be sure that careful planning and effort went into the lesson. Whatever their specialty, Manchester science teachers are the tops in their field.

Social Studies Department

The Social Studies Department underwent a year of change and reorganization. After a two-year process of drafting and revising, the department finally finished writing a new curriculum that will be phased in over a 3 year period. It will offer an extensive series of three courses that combine elements of government, history, geography, and foreign studies into an American Studies course. Textbook adoption will add new ideas and activities to Social Studies courses. Besides the new faces on the staff, the new Community Service Course brought both prestige and excitement to Manchester.

Despite all the changes in the department, they still maintained their high standards of school involvement. The Social Studies department sponsored the annual schoolwide mock election. The Republican side once again claimed victory but not without suffering unprecedented losses from the up-and-coming Democrats. After the election, school spirit and patriotism were ignited with a gift of American flags to every teacher from the department.

Academic Teams

Battle of the Brains member Kevin Kish resorts to preparing for the next match. He is academically successful and spirited.

For yet another year, Manchester's Model United Nations Team journeyed to Old Dominion University for the annual ODU Model United Nations conference. This year the team represented the country of Venezuela, a powerhouse OPEC nation from South America. They spent three days caucusing and passing legislation, all the while learning about diplomacy and compromise. The team enjoyed a working vacation in Norfolk, taking time out of their busy schedules to enjoy the local nightlife. Four members of the team (Allison Marsh, Bronwyn Bailey, Wendy Jonas, and Eric Wilfong) took home Honorable Mention Best Delegation Awards. The team is to be commended for its hard work and dedication.

1993 was another successful year for the Battle of the Brains Team. They competed fiercely and received much support. Team captain Shelia Fischer took great pains to prepare the team for their match, and much hard work and effort was put into practice and show simulation. Look out next year. The team will be better than ever!

Fine Arts

What do Manchester students do besides study? They sing, dance, cook, sew, play an instrument, and design fashions! The Fine Arts, one of the most diverse areas of studies at Manchester High School, have blossomed in the bright new facilities of the new building. A quick peek inside the art department will tell you this! Ms. Mooney and Ms. O'Dell both supervise a busy group of talented students who are busy at any nunmber of projects, such as weaving, photographing, painting, drawing, or sculpting. The Home Economics department is just as busy. Ms. Torterella and Ms. Sidoti both work very hard to develop activities such as catering meals for teachers on early-release days or completing a large sewing project. New classes involving family living, parenting, and culinary skills will be taught next year to help bring the department into the 90's.

Manchester's music department is also growing by leaps and bounds. This year, the music department accomplished a special undertaking when over 250 band and chorus members presented Handel's challenging musical saga Messiah. The program was a resounding success, just like the Fine Arts department at Manchester!

Community Service

In the spirit of innovation that is alive and well at Manchester High School, students are helping others. They are doing this through the Community Service Course, which is offered sixth period to all interested students. The course, deigned and sponsored by Mrs. Deborah Easton is Manchester's most ambitious attempt yet to become more active in the community. Students taking the course are provided with an opportunity to perform community service at many local institutions and organizations. Students are dismissed from class every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday to perform a minimum of six hours of service a week. The remaining days are devoted to individual research, reading, reflecting, guest speakers, and planning group activities. However, all students agree that the program works very well.

The Community Service group has already made a difference in the area through both its group and individual projects. As a class the students work together to help improve the conditions of others. Projects such as making wash kits for the Daily Planet homeless shelter is an example of such an activity. These students have also been making a difference in Chesterfield County schools by working with the adult education program and tutoring English as a Second Language students. Meanwhile, students work as aides to the Severely and Profoundly Disabled children whose program is at Manchester. In all, it seems like the Community service Course has gotten off to an excellent start. Plans are in the works to start similar programs around the state so that others may share in the spirit of giving like students at Manchester.

Writers' Guild andQuill & Scroll

The Writers' Guild has experienced a year of growth and regrouping. Originally just another fine arts opportunity, the Guild has redefined its purpose to include more than just writing. The Guild also changed sponsors this year. Ms. Rebecca Faust, a first year English teacher, has taken over to see the Writers' Guild into its next several years at the school. The Writers' Guild hopes to establish itself in the school among the other clubs, classes, and teams. It continues in accomplishing its objective to provide a quality time for young authors to write, experiment, and perfect their own individual style.

The Quill and Scroll, Manchester's sole literary honors society, continued to induct new members into their ranks. As a local chapter of the National Quill and Scroll Society, the group's purpose is to recognize and reward strong journalistic and creative efforts within the school. Potential members must be nominated by a publications sponsor, must have made an outstanding contribution to that publication, and qualify in the proposed requirements of the organization.

The new Manchester High School was an exciting change for all the students and faculty members this year. Each class of the student body was prepared to take advantage of this new atmosphere and establish a foundation for the Lancers of Manchester. By exhibiting an excessive amount of spirit and enthusiasm, the Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen placed a mark in the book of memories for the 1992-1993 year. Memorable events like the Homecoming Game and the Homecoming Dance, the Prom and After-Prom Party, the pep rallies, the school field trips, and the sports games would be shared by all. Yet, the Seniors would remember winning the Powderpuff Game over the Juniors, the exciting cap and gown picture day, the Senior privileges, and of course the final moment at graduation. It is the Junior class who would remember the great success of the Prom due to their decorations and preparations. Other memories are not to be forgotten by the Sophomores who won second place in the SCA Scavenger Hunt and prepared themselves for the ultimate transition to upperclassmen. The Freshmen class had new remembrances of their first exams, their first high school activities, and their new-found spirit. It is together that the Lancers achieve success in all aspects at Manchester. And it is together, step by step, that Manchester readily has Mastered the Moves.

Leaders

Wow! What a year for the Senior class officers. This year's Senior class officers had no way of knowing how stupendous this year would be for the Seniors. Although the officers included Nicole Boone as President, Angela Alexander as Vice President, Emily Leitch as Secretary, Ashley Byrd as Treasurer, and CeCe Cowans as Historian/Reporter, this group worked much more like a team. As the leaders of the class, they made sure every Senior event was one to be proud of. With the guidance and support of Carol Bass and Susanne Tompkins, Senior class sponsors, the officers encouraged the class to win the spirit link competition, to buy T-shirts, and to participate in all school events. The Senior class officers helped to keep Senior spirit moving throughout the year. These officers also planned the Senior Banquet, Breakfast, and the Senior Assembly. They worked hard to make these events fun and rewarding for the entire class. Lastly, to finish the year the Senior class officers led the Seniors to a final victory for the class as they won the SCA class competition. Thank you Senior class officers and sponsors for a job well done and a year to remember.

Seniors: The Big Picture

The 1993 Senior class has been unique in every way. For the Seniors this will be a year to remember forever. Although the Seniors were excited about coming to a new school, they were fearful of reliving their freshman year. Who could forget getting lost, found, and then asking for directions four years ago in the old Manchester? These fears of "freshmanitis" were soon put to rest as the Seniors began to cooly manipulate their way through the new mall — like edifice we now call Manchester High School. Who would have ever thought that we could actually sell elevator passes because we would really have an elevator? There were just so many things to remember about this year that it is hard to find a place to begin. Well, "change" became more than just a word as many Seniors began to mimick "Big Daddy" Donne Storino. Then, a Democrat, Bill Clinton became President!?! No one could have ever guessed that four years or even two years ago. Another thing no one could have guessed is that they would be stuck with a bottom locker. The school does have its good points though. Modern technology finally landed at Manchester. Seniors were now computer literate, and they began to learn how to use this technology to their advantage. Seniors also enjoyed getting out of sixth period a little earlier than everyone else and just hanging out with their friends until being invaded by the underclassmen. In the middle of the year, Seniors began to "stress" over exam exemptions and college applications! Then, finally after watching for four years, the Senior class began receiving caps and gowns, graduation announcements, and graduation paraphernalia. The stress was over and the end was almost here! YES! Although thoughts of flight penetrate the minds of the 1993 Senior class, they will still miss their alma mater and long to return to MHS before the 10 year reunion to relive old memories of a great year.

This is another side of the AP English class we've never seen.

Taking Control

Senior leadership day encouraged many students to assume the roles of favorite teachers and administrators. Students and faculty look forward to a break in the daily routine. Many students could be seen with walkie-talkies, coffee mugs, ties, goggles, and lab coats. Teachers were to dress as students. Mr. Frier sported shorts and a back pack. "Wow! Get a look at those legs." some students emulated the teacher's dress by wearing both suspenders and a belt. Students gained a new appreciation for their teachers and administrators.

Let's Celebrate

On Friday, June 4, 1993, Seniors prepared for a memorable day full of exciting events and activities. The day started with an assembly just for the Seniors in which caricatures for distinguished Lancers were distributed along with Presidential Academic Fitness Awards. Next, Seniors enjoyed a Senior Breakfast with numerous pastries. Following this all students attended the Senior Assembly and cheered for all those receiving awards. The day ended with a memorable Senior Banquet at the Holiday Inn. Seniors arrived and participated in the festivities that evening. With all of the great events, Seniors would yet close another chapter in ending their high school journey.

Senior Privileges

Students look forward to their Senior year even from the very beginning of their high school career. Not only do Seniors become the "top dogs" in sports, academics, and fine arts, they also enjoy several Senior privileges. Many relish their three minute head start out of the building. This allows them to avoid the flood of the student body rushing to their lockers. During sunny and dry days other Seniors choose to sit in the courtyard for lunch instead of the cafeteria or commons area. Only Seniors are allowed for lunch in the courtyard and many underclassmen are rejected from the courtyard by the courtyard officials. Exam exemptions are the utmost in privileges. Seniors can become exempted from their semester and final exams by obtaining an expected average in the class, following the tardy and absentee policies, and receiving teacher permission. the final Senior privilege is Graduation. Altogether, Seniors know they have mastered the high school moves upon receiving the well-deserved diploma.

Another victory for the Seniors at Powderpuff.

Ivan Squire and Nicole Kimbrough were crowned this year's Prom King and Queen.

Prom Memories

The Manchester Prom this year took an overall new appeal as the Commons was perfectly decorated to fit the theme of "Passion in Paradise.' Along with the striking new Commons area, the courtyard was also very attractive with its romantic violin music played by an orchestra. These areas were utilized to their fullest, even the enclosed cafeteria filled with drinks and food, to produce one of the most successful proms ever. Upon entering couples had to walk over a bridge where a pond was located on the other side. The theme truly came alive, being that it was filled with palm trees, live flowers, and aquatic scenes on the walls. The DJ played many tunes of all varieties even a few old favorites like "YMCA" and "Shout" which brought back some memories for Seniors. Prom ended with great memories and many attended the After-Prom Party later at Cloverleaf Mall. A perfect night at Prom is just one of the many events Seniors enjoyed at the new Manchester.

Ready to dance, prom-goers enter the commons area.

Chris Morgan and Nicole Kimbrough talk amongst the crowd.

Congratulations Senior Prom Court.

The class of 1994 received the first class rings with the new top design and crest.

A Year of Firsts

It didn't take the junior class long to make the new Manchester feel just like home. We moved up and joined the ranks of upperclassmen, gaining both responsibility and freedom. We took part in one of the most important of all the junior traditions, the ring ceremony. A new ring design, unveiled just last year, was inscribed on many of our rings, symbolizing a new beginning. This year the juniors took a more active role in the school with the beginning of the Junior Council. The juniors planned many activities such as fund raisers and the all important prom. At this year's Powderpuff game, the team put up a valiant effort, but found defeat at the hands of the seniors. Next year, however, we will reign supreme! Once again junior spirit was proved to be the best in the school when we won the spirit stick at the Homecoming pep rally. This year and this new school have brought on many changes for all of us. With hard work and spirit, we can make the new Manchester and the class of 1994 the best ever!

Junior, Ashley Wright, carries the ball for the Juniors in the annual Powder Puff rivalry.

Mrs. Flory, Junior Class sponsor, and officers, Chris Morgan and Jason Elam, put hours of work into prom planning.

President, Jason Elam; Treasurer, Heather Costello; Secretary, Chris Morgan; and Vice President Eric Krause led the first junior class at the new Manchester. Juniors successfully boosted the class treasury by selling ValueChecks. The money raised finances the Prom and other activities. The class should be especially proud of all the money they raised this year.

'94 Always

The weekend of October 23 and 24 marked the first Homecoming at the new Manchester. Mighty Manchester defeated Clover Hill, winning the homecoming game 17-16. The junior class juiced up the parade with its award winning float featuring the "Energizer Bunny". And while the band played "Here Comes That Rainy Day", the junior Homecoming court was honored. Our princesses were Eisha McDowell and Noelle Parker and our princes were Eric Krause and AJ Hamlin. The next night, the juniors danced the night away at the Homecoming Dance.

The Sophomore Class Officers

The outstanding Sophomore officers led their class to a successful 1992-93 school year. The officers are: President Melissa Doernberg, Vice President Minh Lam, Secretary Sherri McCracken, Treasurer Drew Lindsey. Sophomores from the SCA sold fruit which substantially increased their treasury. The Sophomore class' donations in buying spirit links secured the Sophomores a second place in that competition. A lucky family was adopted by the class and received food and supplies for the year. The class also participated in the door competition and did a great job. With the officers and class' enthusiasm, the graduating class of 1995 will prove to be the best Manchester High School has ever seen. Continue the spirit, Sophomores!

Homecoming

The biggest football game of the year, Homecoming, was held in the newest school in the county, the new Manchester High School. This year the Manchester Lancers took on the Cloverhill Cavaliers. The "Cavs" put up a great fight, but in the end, the Lancers won! Sophomores showed their spirit at the pep rally, parade, game, and dance.

At halftime during the game, the sophomore princes with their princesses were presented: Deryk Shockley with Robyn Abernathy, and D.J. Stanley with Farrah Seal.

Sophomore spirit continued to shine through the next night at the Homecoming dance where sophomores dazzled everyone with their fancy footwork. Everyone had a great time.

Leslie Phillips helps Tonya Leedy tie on her spirit.

Devoted Lancers: Antoine and Melvin.

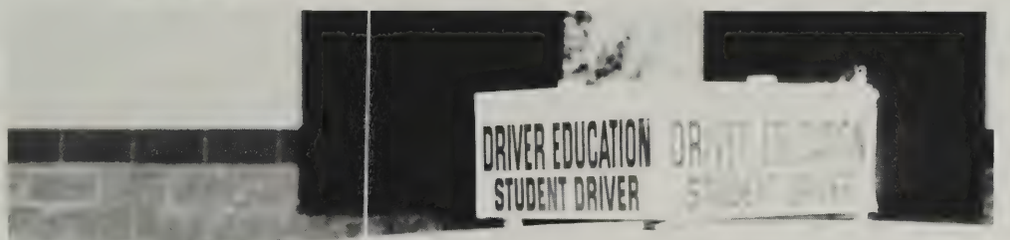
Good-bye "Cheese Wagon", Hello Car



The one thing Sophomores can't wait to do is leave the bus, A.K.A. Cheese wagon. As Sophomores, we leave behind those memories of hot, sticky seats, being kicked in the back, bus drills, and waiting forever in the cold. The only way to get rid of the wagon is to learn to drive. Yes, in our Sophomore year of Health/P.E. class we are taught the skill of handling a car. From buying car insurance to learning what exactly a carbeurator does, every sophomore will hopefully retain all this useful information. We begin the countdown for two important dates: When we turn 15 and 8 months, and our Sixteenth birthdays. These are the times when we venture to the DMV to receive our learner's permit and finally our license, not to mention the flattering profile picture, a time we will always cherish.

Unfortunately, before the drivers license is placed in our eager little hands, the student driver car waits to gobble us up. The best thing about being in the famous Dodge Shadow is missing out on a class. The worst thing about it is that every movement you execute is being watched. One slip of the hand or using the wrong turn signal can result in failure or worse not getting waived. What's worse is having a classmate making fun of all your mistakes. As stressful as getting a license can be, it's the only escape from the "Cheesewagon"

Don't they wish that they were in Chris' seat.

First Day

The anxieties and worries of the summer all came down to one day; the first day of school. As the first steps were taken into Manchester High School the buzz of students filled the halls and continued into the classrooms. The confusion wasn't just centered around the freshmen this year but around the entire student body. Still, the freshmen had the most adjusting to do. We were no longer middle-schoolers; we were now high school students.

The change of scenery could be difficult for some students, but it had to be made, and now that it was we could be proud of ourselves. The year ahead seemed frightening but we weren't going to be intimidated anymore. We were determined to make it; that was our goal. So, we stuck together and look what we did. With our many friendships and loving teachers to help us with our problems we are on our way to graduation. Yes, we did it. CONGRATULATIONS!

Students look for their classes in the crowded hall.

Officers/Homecoming

The freshman class officers for 1992-93 are: Sarah Malone — president, Heather Walent — vice president, Mindy bright — secretary, and Brandon Smith — treasurer.

Freshmen walk into the dance laughing and having a great time.

The Freshmen class officers for 1992-93 are: Sarah Malone — President, Heather Walent — Vice President, Mindy Bright — Secretary, and Brandon Smith — Treasurer. The sponsors are Mrs. Banton and Mrs. Betts. Freshmen representatives raised money to help sponsor dances by selling blowpops and spirit ribbons.

The freshmen class participated in the homecoming parade to help kick off an exciting year. One of the year's most popular social events, the Homecoming dance, turned out to be a blast! Each individual brought his or her own creative dance style, livening up the dance floor. Amy Self, a freshman who attended the dance said, "The beautiful decorations and lively music made it a night to remember."

The freshman princesses, Heather Walent and Sarah Malone, and the freshman princes, Ian Eidson and Keith Condrey, posed for a spot on the video yearbook, as did many other couples. Colorful decorations, extravagent gowns, and popular music made this dance as exciting as ever!

Famous Quotes

Everywhere you go people are always quoting famous celebrities. Well, here at Manchester, students are also quoting famous people — their teachers. In the halls and at the lunch tables a commonly asked question is "Have you heard what Mr. So-and-So said today?" We have compiled a list of some of Manchester's own "famous quotes" . . .

"Quite frankly . . . "
"Nunca Nunca Tierra"
"Assume nothing!"
"Cut the peanut gallery."
"I don't know, do you?"
"Ya'll are the rudest class I've ever had."
"There are no errors."
"Consequently . . . "
"Remember the rule of thumb . . . if I can't do it, you can't do it."
"Just remember, PV=NRT."
"I'm only doing this because I love you."
"Sit on your gaholleywampus!"
"Just leave me alone."
"This is review."
"You got a little bit of hash here."
"Homina heedula."
"Never, ever, ever, ever, ever . . . "
"Trig-aerobics!"
"Superfine!"
"Stop the plug and chug."
"I'm not sure — let me think about it and I'll get back to you."
"Just for fun . . . "
"You fair people better use some mayonnaise in the sun."

Teacher of the Year

Manchester High School is proud to present Mr. Daniel Geary as the 1992-93 Teacher of the Year. Mr. Geary has been teaching Social Studies for ten years in both the Henrico County and the Chesterfield County school systems. Mr. Geary taught for five years, before joining the police department where he worked as a patrol officer for two years. After those two years, Manchester was lucky enough to have Mr. Geary come back and resume teaching again. Mr. Geary also sponsored the Model UN here at Manchester, a mock world government organization where schools from the Eastern United States participate. In his years of teaching, Mr. Geary's alias at MHS was "The Voice of the Lancers".

In addition to the 1992-93 Manchester Teacher of the Year honor, Mr. Geary has received The Ruritan International Club Teacher of the Year Award, The Taft Fellowship for Excellence in Social Studies, plus the 1982 Rookie Teacher of the Year Award.

Mr. Geary loves teaching and being able to get up in front of a class "clowing around, yet teaching about Social Studies and life". Now Mr. Geary can be seen in the Guidance Department still helping students and keeping up with their progress, on a one to one basis. Mr. Geary has started a Career Center at Manchester, which has become a model for all schools. We will be seeing Mr. Geary in the Guidance Department for years to come.

The graduating class of 1991-92 remembers Mr. Geary's touching speech at Graduation. He felt "privileged to address the Senior Class at that important part of their lives". Mr. Geary's goal is to be able to make an impact on a student's life, whether it be as a teacher, as a Guidance Counselor, or as a speaker at a high school graduation.

Principal Mr. Jones gives Mrs. Jackson a farewell hug.

Thanks!

After twenty-five years of service at Manchester High School, Mary Jackson retired in 1992. Her co-workers remember her especially kind, warm, and diligent personality. She was a woman who never gave up under the burden of responsibilities.

Mary Jackson graduated from VCU with a degree in accounting. In 1967, she embarked upon her long career at Manchester High School in the clinic. for the next twenty years, her duties remained in the MHS clinic. In 1987, she transferred to the Guidance Department and enjoyed her secretarial position for the next five years. Upon her retirement in 1992, she remarked, "I have enjoyed every moment of my career at this school. I wish the very best for all of you". Mrs. Jackson's place shall always remain warm and remembered in the heart of MHS.

MANCHESTER

Sports Say it's all in the moves

The success of the Lancer sports continued this year as Manchester strutted its stuff both on and off the field. There were times when team members thought the season would never gain a victory, but it was team dedication and Manchester support that quickly changed these notions around. Each team member contributed a significant victory for the school whether it was a personal win or a team victory. The success achieved this year was the goal of unity. Lancers, working together, showed all opponents that they were serious and dedicated. Not only did the coaches and sports managers contribute to all of this success through their guidance and support, but each team member attempted to motivate other members. This was the unity and team spirit established this year, setting a solid foundation for the new Manchester. From the victory of the football team at our Homecoming Game to the triumph of the track teams at their meets, all Lancers deserve recognition for their efforts. High expectations levied high goals. Without this spirit and determination, the Lancers could not have been so successful. Again, Manchester Masters the Moves.

Baseball

With goals of improving each game and making the finals, the baseball teams this year devoted themselves to hard work and determination. A talented pitching staff and a strong group of Seniors provided the entire team with good leadership for the season. Both the Varsity and JV teams put their full effort into every game, and in most cases, it really showed. It will be hard to continue such a successful tradition, but these teams proved they mastered the moves.

Lancers have powerful swings.

And yet another perfect tag for Manchester.

Softball

It takes a lot of hard work and much dedication for a team to have a successful year. Along with sweating it out, there must be high spirits. The Softball teams this year excelled in spirit. They showed a variety of talents this season. The team's motivation was there from the first practice until the last. Their dedication was inspiring to all high school teams. Even when games did not go the right way, the teams never lost its pride and spirit. Natasha Johnson and Jennifer Malone were the two team members of the Varsity team who were selected to the All-Regional team. Congratulations to all the outstanding members!

See How They Run

The Cross Country teams had excellent seasons and winning records. At the district tournament, the girls placed first. A second place win at the Regional tournament earned them a chance to play in the State tournament. Sara Teets qualified for All-State recognition. Those recognized as All-Regional were Heather Costello and Erica Gajewski. Helen Simms was awarded All-District. The Boys team also placed 3rd in the district with a 3-3 district record and a 6-3 overall record. They won 3rd place at the District tournament. Drew Lindsey was awarded All-Regional, and Greg Culpepper was awarded All-District.

Run For It!

The girls' track team did especially well this year placing first in the district. Their overall record was an outstanding 8-0. With the help of Coach Sours, they proved that hard work and dedication truly pay off. The boys' track team had a challenging season tying for second in the district. Their overall record was 6-2. The boys' track team worked hard this season and they will tackle next season with just as much optimism and enthusiasm. Congratulations to our track teams for mastering the moves.

Field Hockey

The Field Hockey team was looking forward to a field of their own at the new Manchester. However, not only did they find the field smaller than regulation size but more noticeably, Ezra Clay was buried in the middle of it. From these meager beginnings, the Varsity and JV teams practiced hard to gain 4th place in the district. From the Varsity team, 6 players were awarded all district honors and 2 players, Jennifer Malone and Shannon Hutchinson were named to the all-regional team. Both teams had an eventful and successful year.

Coach Gilbert peps up the team with a few strategies.

Kicking Off!

Continued success! Lancers enjoyed the first back to back winning season since 1984-85. Lancers with an undefeated record of 5-0 at home earned high respect from the best of the other high school teams. Placing third in the district with a district record of 4-2, and earning an overall record of 6-4, the Lancers trampeled their opponents game after game. ''I think that Manchester Football went a long way and proved to people that this team has indeed established itself as a contender and that last year's record wasn't just a fluke,'' said Head Coach Rodger Cassem. The Lancers developed a peculiar battle cry, ''Back at the 'bottom' where we belong'' alluding to their success on their new field known as the ''Bottom.'' Coach Cassem attributed part of the team's success to Ashley Byrd and Robye Dewitt. Ashley Byrd was selected for the first all Dominion District running back and second for the Central Region team. Robye Dewitt was selected first All Dominion Team and first team all metro.

The Lancers strong offense is at work, ready to defeat the opponent.

Dedication! Throughout the season, team members of the Boys' Varsity and Junior Varsity Soccer teams prepare for each game by running various drills; concentrating on trapping the ball, passing, shooting, and defense skills. In the end it results in a group of team members who work well together and are willing to give up personal glory for the good of the group. Spectators who watch the teams can easily tell they have talent, experience, and motivation. To other teams the Lancers are a fierce group that put 100% into every game. Congratulations to the success!

Girls' Soccer

The girls' soccer teams worked hard this year, preparing for the season's games by running, drilling, and going through many scrimmages. While practicing daily, the girls gained valuable skills and experience as well as learning to work together as a team. Under the leadership of coach Chaconas and several key players including: Whitney Matthews, who made first all district; Ruth McDorman, who was second all district; Maki McCoy; Sara Thomas; Mary Overbaugh; and Shannon Hutchison; each of whom made honorable mention, the varsity team was able to improve overall team play.

Tennis

The members of the tennis teams this year prepared for each season well in advance by participating in tournaments and other camps during the summer that strengthened skills and motivation. Members even practiced and played during their own time in the off season. All of this personal preparation leads to more effective positive attitude add to make the teams more competitive as a whole. By displaying teamwork, determination, and true talent, both of the Lancer teams will be successful in seasons to come.

New Pros

This year's Manchester Volleyball Teams consisted of new talent and enthusiasm. They did well overall, especially since this was a new team to the school. With an overall record of 8-38, the teams have grown stronger and hope to strengthen even more by next season. The coaches found great interest, plenty of raw talent, and definite team spirit. This spirit was shown throughout the entire season, and the teams had support from the student body. Jenny Rawlings and Ruth McDorman both made Honorable Mention on the All District Team. Congratulations to both teams!

WRESTLING

The Varsity and JV Wrestling teams both had winning seasons this year. The varsity team had a 9-7 record and the J.V. team had a 5-2 record which placed them 3rd in the district. Some of our outstanding wrestlers were Herman Wilson who placed second in the district and region as well as 5th in the state, and Jimmy Byerly who placed second in the district, 4th in the region and 4th in the state. Paul Proffitt and Roy Fridley were the district champions. The team had a great year of development. Coach Monroe says that next year's team will be hard to beat.

Our Clubs join the movement

Manchester clubs are numerous within the school and provide a variety of activities that interest all students. Clubs enable students to explore new areas such as foreign languages, or to participate in worthwhile causes that may benefit others like SADD or PEACE clubs. There is no limit to the benefits and the enjoyments of Manchester's extracurricular activities.

One of the largest clubs within the school is the SCA which sponsored the Thanksgiving and Christmas Drives for families in the community. Many clubs and classes participated in these events. SCA also organized a scavenger hunt for all clubs which attracted much participation and enthusiasm. As a result, clubs were able to focus on cooperation while trying to enjoy the lively atmosphere. Other clubs focused on honoring outstanding students in the community or in the areas of academics and leadership potential. Even further some clubs may focus on a special talent in the arts, in music, or on a special topic. There are a variety of opportunities at Manchester involving working together and communication. It is up to each student to join the movement. It is also up to each student to Master these Moves.

SCA Snippets

The SCA coordinated many successful activities for Manchester this year. The first was a Back-to-School Teacher Breakfast and a Back-to-School Orientation followed. Next, the SCA organized the Thanksgiving and Christmas Adopt-A-Family. All the clubs gave their hearts and souls to feed and clothe our needy community. Also to help our community, SCA organized a Blood Drive where many Manchester students donated blood. In May the SCA coordinated "Teacher Appreciation Week." Another activity SCA planned was a class and club competition. Clubs participated in various activities such as a scavenger hunt.

National Honor Society

Helen Simms taps Jason Elam into NHS.

The National Honors Society has enjoyed an exciting, challenging year. New members inducted into this honorary organization are chosen not only for their scholarly potential but for their leadership, service, and character. This year many juniors received this honor. In fact, it was the largest tapping ceremony in recent memory with 30 new members joining the National Honors Society ranks. The tapping ceremony conducted by club officers Sheila Fischer, Stephanie Nuebert, Ivan Squire, Alice Chan, and Wendy Jonas, ran smoothly and was an elegant, dignified way to honor its new members. The following reception was catered by its members. This year many members were involved in a tutoring program set up by the Reading/Study Skills teacher, Mrs. Russell. In addition to its usual sponsoring of a needy family at Thanksgiving and Christmas, NHS donated desserts to the Daily Planet to help feed the homeless. Finally, as a fundraiser NHS sold cookies and Blow-Pops for the NHS Scholarship Fund.

Alexis Atwood and Darci Teeten congratulate each other.

Ben Ayres and Damon Fand applaud the newly inducted NHS members.

Foreign Language Clubs

The Foreign Language Clubs were active in many activities this year. This year the French Club with its President Paul Vu, Vice President Alice Chan, Secretary Karen Gray, Treasurer Tonya Chrichlow, and sponsor Mrs. Howard, went to the French Quarter, a new, small, quaint shop. As a fundraiser, the club sold unique French lollipops which were a great success with the students. Finally, towards the end of the year, they dined at La Petite France to taste wonderful French food. The President, Tracey Barrios, and numerous members of the Spanish Club held a potluck dinner to initiate more members to begin the year. The club visited a nursing home and made valentines for the elders. They also sold blowpops and dined at various Mexican restaurants including La Casita. The Latin Club started the year with an annual Back-to-School Pizza Party with Alvin Washington, president; Allison Marsh, v-president; Meredith Rash, secretary; Laura Blake, treasurer; and Molly Kent, historian. The club held a Halloween Party in October, and in the spring, they took part in a bike trip and picnic along Richmond's Canal Zone. They continued their humanitarian aid by sponsoring families at both Thanksgiving and Christmas. They also went on a field trip to D.C. to view the Vatican archives, the National Cathedral, and Dumbarton Oaks.

Melissa Barrios discovered a new friend while visiting a retirement home.

Sara Kristof and Tracy Barrios are bringing the Spanish Club's collected goods from the holiday food drive to the SCA room.

FHA, FBLA, DECA

The Future Homemakers of America, also known as FHA began their great year helping the Red Cross. They sold heart-healthy lunches at the Heart Rock Café. Also, to help the community, they went to Chippenham Hospital and manor to visit senior citizens in the nursing homes. FHA organized the annual cake bake-off and participated in a program to stop smoking called "Save a Sweetheart."

FBLA or Future Business Leaders of America had a fundraiser in the fall to raise money for "Project ASK," a campaign about childhood cancer. FBLA officers attended a conference at Virginia State University. Finally, they had a pizza party to end their year.

DECA or Distributive Education Club of America sponsored the "Coats for Kids Project" and the Senior-Faculty Basketball Game. They took field trips to Potomac Mills, New York, and J.S. Reynolds Fashion Show. They participated in DECA District and State Competitive Events and had DECA Day. They also organized the Fashion Marketing Show. All clubs participated in the Adopt-A-Family program as well. Congratulations to all clubs for such an active and successful year!

SADD, Ecology, and Science Clubs

SADD, Ecology, and Science Clubs had a productive year.

The Science Club went to the National Aquarium in Baltimore and to the National Zoo in Washington D.C. Each semester they went to the science museum to watch a movie at the planetarium. They also planned and coordinated the Science Career Day.

SADD members rallied student interest by encouraging participation in the Homecoming parade. SADD's float portrayed the dangers of drinking and driving. They also worked with the Prom Promise to try to keep students from driving while drunk or "high" on prom night.

The Ecology Club, otherwise known as PEACE, painted the storm drains around the school, to inform others not to pollute the Chesapeake Bay watershed. PEACE collected paper throughout school and recycled it, and took a trip to the Reynold's Recylcing Center.

PEACE members print posters for their exhaust free float.

Participation

This year the Art Club participated in many inspiring activities. In late October enthusiastic members assisted children painting pumpkins for the Southern State Company. In February members made beautiful valentines for the senior citizens of a nursing home. These students also took numerous museum trips which enhanced their appreciation of art. Let's not forget the St. Patrick's Day Carnations, which was the prosperous fundraiser for art scholarships. The events of the History Club were movies, trips, and other activites. Club members saw 1492, Columbus, Malcolm X, and Swing Kids. They also helped sponsor the 50's and 60's dance. Members planned trips to Virginia Historical Society, Agecroft Hall, Hollywood Cemetery and the Virginia War Memorial. Both the Art and History clubs participated in the Thanksgiving and Christmas Adopt-a-Family.

The Fine Arts Festival was held at Manchester this year; another proud event.

Band

The Manchester High School Band this year exhibited great talent and skill both in school practices, concerts, and invitationals. The band is directed by Mr. Barton who instructs Symphonic Band, Concert Band, Jazz Band, and Orchestra. He also conducts the Marching Band at Manchester. Not only did the group have fall and spring concerts this year, they also performed in the "Messiah" along with the chorus groups and at the Graduaton ceremony. The Manchester Band is recognized as one of the top bands not only in the state and country, but also by its own students. Support and dedication is exhibited by both band members and the student body. This success is another credit to Manchester's new beginning.

Members display strong skill and talent all year long at Manchester.

The "Messiah" was performed before Christmas.

Under the conduction of Mr. Barton, band instructor, the band performed two inspiring pieces at this year's Graduation ceremony held in the Manchester gymnasium.

MANCHESTER MARCHING LANCERS

The Marching Lancers do it again! This year was one of the most successful seasons the Marching Lancers have had. They initiated the new athletic field with complex drills and lively jazz music. At competition, the intricate and demanding presentation received rave reviews. The band scored an excellent rating at the V.B.O.D.A. Marching Festival. At other competitions, Elizabeth Colvin won Best Drum Major. The masterful majorettes and flag squad were awarded honors also. One student said, ''we did everything but grow hair on Mr. Barton's head.'' Mr. Barton heralds this as one of the best years ever. New members were welcomed by the old and the band grew in size to 90 strong; thus proving, bigger is better.

The Best of the Best

The Choral Department had a productive and exciting year. In December, the 240 voice-combined choir presented Handel's "Messiah." At All-District Chorus in February, eight members were chosen for All-State, the highest honor a choral student in Virginia can obtain. Chosen were Sopranos: Jade Waddell, Tracey Barrios, and Eisha McDowell; Altos: Anne LeLay and Jenny May; Tenors: Mitch Early and Brian Roberts; and Bass: Jeff Capps. On March 18 the Department's 4th annual Central Virginia Show Choir Invitational was held. Capital Swing hosted the guest groups, and the Madrigal Singers, Girls' Show, and Capital Swing gave exciting performances. At the District Choral Festival, the choirs gave outstanding performances and the Madrigals became the only group to receive superior ratings from every judge. On March 27 at the National Show Choir Competition at Disney World, Capital Swing was named the third best high school show choir in the nation. Competing with fourteen other choirs from eleven states, Manchester's group became the first since the festival began to place in the top three on their first appearance at the competition. The madrigals also gave an outstanding performance on the main stage at Epcot. In April, at the Mid-Atlantic Jazz and Show Choir Festival at James Madison University, the Madrigals won second place in the jazz division. Madrigal soloist, Kembah Richardson, was named best soloist of the festival. The Girls' Show Choir received trophies for outstanding costumes and choreography. Capital Swing, as the 1992 Grand Champion, entered the auditorium to a standing ovation. Congratulations go to the choirs, Mrs. Wood, and Mrs. Moore-Raful on an unprececented year.

Mr. Barton, band director, and Mrs. Moore-Raeful, chorus instructor, orchestrated the Christmas "Messiah" program. A special assembly for students was held in addition to an evening performance.

Drama

The Drama Club began the year with an annual initiation party in which everyone dressed up in costume. Some of the club members participated in several plays presented by the Drama department: Eat Your Heart Out and All The Way Home. For SADD, the Drama Club presented a play called On The Rocks where SADD members as well as Drama Club members performed. As a fundraiser this year, club members sold Santa Grams. Members also volunteered by dressing up in monster customes in the Haunted Forest at Rockwood Park. The Drama Club won the Homecoming float because of their creative ideas. They wrote all of the stars' names on their cart, and they had Jeff Capps, Emily Mistr, and Doug Reisa dress up as certain characters. And finally, they held their Final Banquet to end the year.

Yearbook

Many thanks go out to each and every dedicated staff member. The Memoir this year was even more important since it would be the first edition at this new location. Work was started early as Editors-in-Chief Alison Chiu and Allison Marsh perfected a theme and cover design for the yearbook. Much thanks also goes to the sponsors Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Shelly. The staff not only spent countless time working on the actual layouts for the book, but they also participated in fundraisers including the poinsettia sale and ad campaign organized by Financial Manager Alice Chan. Recognition to the section editors goes to Jenny May and Jade Waddell on Lancer Life, Wendy Jonas on Academics, Nicole Boone and Sheila Fischer on Seniors, Jaimee Patterson on Juniors, Celeste Fetta on Sophomores, Michelle Hixson on Freshmen, Ryan Jackson on Sports, Diane Shiflett on Faculty, and Kate Henson and Paul Vu on Clubs.

Naureen Valiani takes a minute to pose before attempting a difficult layout.

The Community strengthens As the move goes on

Our local community has continued to expand into a larger and more situated area. This expansion has also strengthened our community efforts to promote and support this year's yearbook. Parents and friends have given their time and support to motivate Manchester High with its new change of location. Patrons have readily accepted the task of setting the foundation of Manchester in solid ground. The community has participated in school fundraisers, school spirit activities, and has openly donated items and denominations to the school as a show of generosity to the students and the faculty. Now, Manchester can share memories of the 1992 Presidential election, the foreign affairs events, and other exciting events that have entered the history books for 1992-1993. It is no wonder the importance of the community is never forgotten. By helping the school, all Lancers benefit. More directly, area businesses have aided in providing jobs to those students who have been searching for one. The move goes on past the school. It continues into the community as each side attempts to help the other. In actuality Mastering the Moves becomes easier with the support of the community.

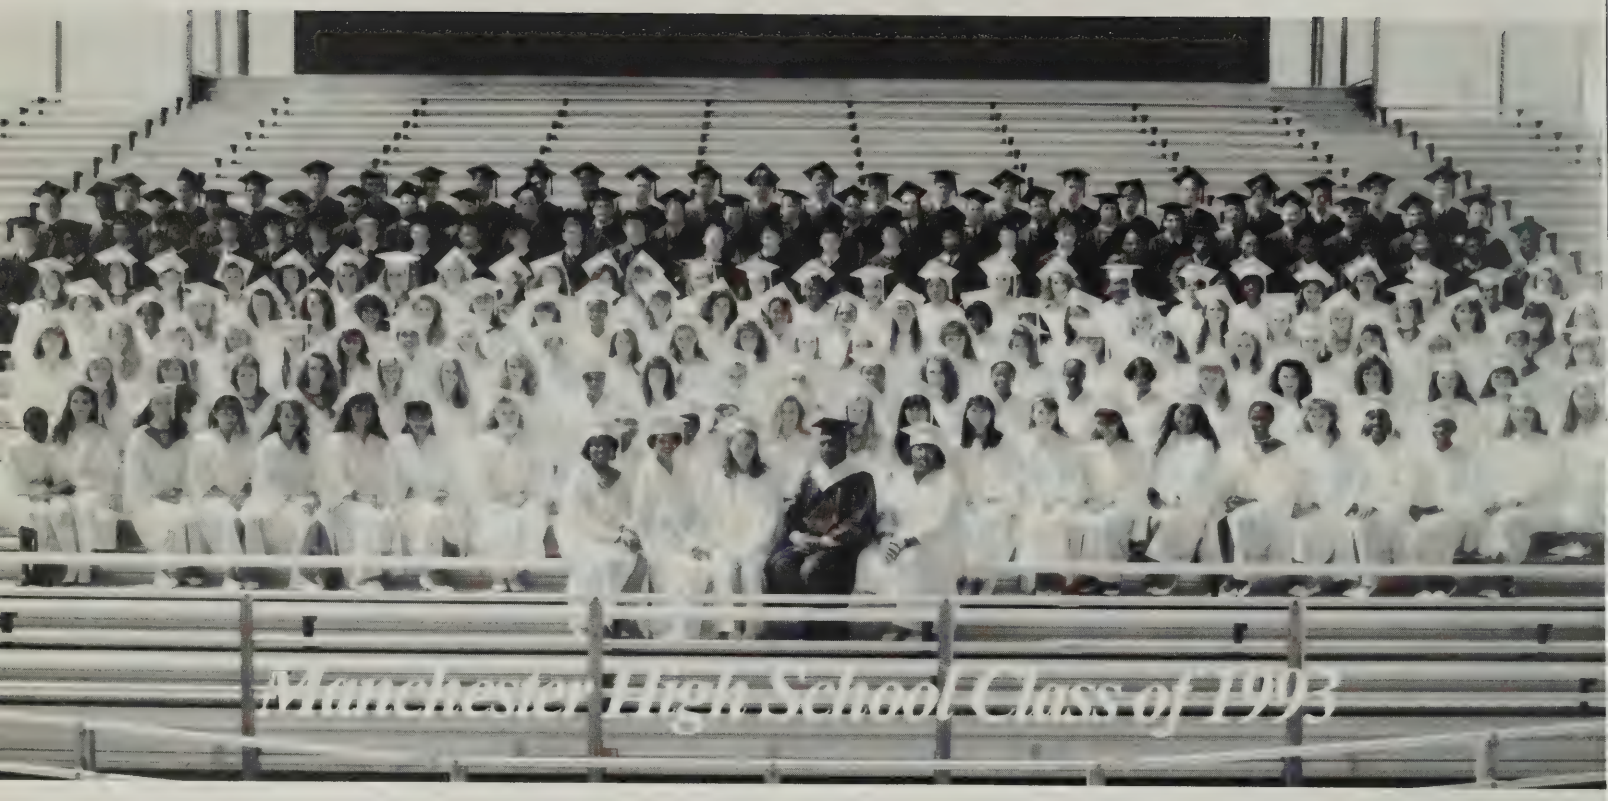
Work on this year's Memoir began very early in the year when Financial Manager Alice Chan and Editors-in-Chief Alison Chiu and Allison Marsh started work on the ad campaign. This was just one of the many ways the staff helped towards the production of the yearbook. With the guidance of advisors Janet Shelly and Sharon Austin, the staff was ready to begin. The addition of the new video yearbook also added to the excitement at the new Manchester.

The 1993 Memoir is Volume 55 of Manchester High School in Midlothian, Virginia and is the first edition at this new location. It was printed by Herff Jones, Inc. of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. This edition ran 700 copies of 176 pages. The cover design was created by the Editors-in-Chief with adaptations by the Herff Jones' art department. The cover was negative image of a direct-line photo on Vibra Tex Ultramarine with applied color of #10 Brilliant Orange. Name-stamped books used HJ Gold. The end sheets are white with 60% silver screened out. The majority of the type is Times Roman. The type size of the copy is 12 point, captions are 8 and 10 point, and headlines are varied point sizes. 30% gray screens and 100% black screens were also used.

The Editors-in-Chief have many people to thank: Mrs. Shelly and Mrs. Austin, sponsors, advisors, and friends; Mr. Smith, Herff Jones Representative; Mr. Dave Jennings, Lifetouch phototgrapher; Mr. Jones, Principal; the Administrative Staff; Wendy Jonas, end sheets designer; and the Memoir patrons.

We also must thank the staff for a great year and an exciting yearbook. The section editors are: Jenny May and Jade Waddell, Lancer Life; Wendy Jonas, Academic; Nicole Boone and Sheila Fischer, Seniors; Jaimee Patterson, Juniors; Celeste Fetta, Sophomores; Michelle Hixson, Freshmen; Diane Shiflett, Faculty; Ryan Jackson, Sports; Kate Henson and Paul Vu, Clubs; and Molly Kent, Head Photographer.

Moving On



Thumbprint

In the heel of my thumb are whorls, whirls, wheels
in a unique design:
mine alone.
What a treasure to own!
My own flesh, my own feelings.
No other, how grand or base,
can ever contain the same.
My signature,
thumbing the pages of my time.
My universe key,
my singularity.
Impress, implant,
I am myself,
of all my atom parts I am the sum.
And out of my blood and my brain
I make my own interior weather,
my own sun and rain.
Imprint my mark upon the world,
whatever I shall become.
